The Honorable Rick Perry
Office of the Governor
P.O. Box 12428
Austin, TX 78711-2428

Dear Governor Perry:

On behalf of the Hispanic Association of Colleges and Universities (HACU), I am writing to urge your strong support of the proposed merger of the existing University of Texas at Brownsville and the University of Texas-Pan American into a new University of Texas institution in South Texas, which would also include a new school of medicine. HACU represents more than 400 colleges and universities, including 69 in Texas.

As you know, the Rio Grande Valley of this state is continuing to experience rapid population and economic growth even as higher educational opportunities have lagged. A merger of the Brownsville and Edinburg campuses would leverage the strengths of both, eliminate unnecessary duplications, and better meet the needs of all the residents of the region. The new University has the potential to become a major research institution and a driver of economic development and innovation in South Texas.

Moreover, the creation of a full-fledged medical school in the Valley is an urgent need. The health care needs of this region are dramatically underserved, with only 124 doctors for every 100,000 residents, far behind the state average of 165 doctors and little more than half the national average of 240 doctors per 100,000 residents. The existing UTHSC-San Antonio's Regional Academic Health Center already provides a solid foundation for the beginnings of the new medical school.

The work of the University of Texas System in preparing this proposal amply documents the economies of scale that will be realized by this merger and the educational and economic stimulus the new institution would provide to the region and to the State.

Your strong support for this proposal is critical to meeting the 21st century educational, medical and economic needs of this region and of the state of Texas. As the demography of Texas becomes increasingly Hispanic, more adequately addressing the educational needs of Hispanic students and of the Rio Grande Valley is vital to assuring the future of the state.

RESOLUTION

Whereas, The Board of Regents of The University of Texas System has taken a bold step for the future of higher education in Texas by proposing the creation of a new university with campuses spanning the Rio Grande Valley that will combine U.T. Brownsville, U.T. Pan American, and a future medical school; and

Whereas, higher education investments for South Texas have not been at equal levels historically as other parts of the State of Texas; and

Whereas, the proposed South Texas Plan would not require additional funding nor take away from the other University of Texas System institutions; and

Whereas, with a combined student population estimated at 28,000 students the new university will be one of the largest designated Hispanic-serving institutions in the nation and, with initial annual research expenditures of $11 million, the new university provides the foundation for an emerging research university and, ultimately, the first Tier One university in South Texas; and

Whereas, in such close proximity to The University of Texas at San Antonio, with an enrollment of 30,474 and a 45% Hispanic population, as well as, a designated Tier-One emerging research university, and The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio, which is recognized among the Top Public Research Universities, the new university and its future medical school will bring to a broad region of South Texas a synergy in education, research, and the ensuing economic development for which higher education is an unparalleled engine making it the San Antonio/South Texas connection to Bioscience Healthcare Education Partnership; and

Whereas, the new university will have dramatic economic impact in South Texas and the Rio Grande Valley, including providing 7,000 to 10,000 jobs, while fostering the educational and knowledge base essential to a 21st Century economy; and

Whereas, if approved by two-thirds of the membership of the Legislature, the new university will be the first Valley institution eligible to participate in the Permanent University Fund, an endowment that has fostered development of the other institutions within The University of Texas System; and

Whereas, The Board of Regents, having previously invested millions of dollars in support of medical education and services in South Texas has also committed $100 million over the next 10 years to accelerate the pace of transitioning the Regional Academic Health Center into the new medical school; and

Whereas, the development of the new medical school will not only provide critically needed research and health care benefitting the growing South Texas population, but also complement developments in San Antonio such as the new children's hospital in San Antonio;

Whereas, what benefits this important, fast-growing region of Texas benefits the economic vitality of the entire State of Texas; now, therefore,

Be it Resolved by the San Antonio Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, that the chamber hereby expresses its support for the creation of the new University of Texas System institution of the first class in the Lower Rio Grande Valley; and, be it further

Resolved, that this resolution be forwarded to the members of the legislature representing the areas covered by this chamber as an expression of support for this important proposal and an encouragement of enactment of legislation authorizing The University of Texas System to establish and maintain such an institution.

For our 83rd Legislative Agenda:

The Hispanic Chamber also fully endorses Alamo Community Colleges, Texas A&M San Antonio's, The University of Texas at San Antonio, The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio, The University of Texas System, as well as the private universities including St. Mary's, Trinity, Our Lady of the Lake Universities and University of the Incarnate Word's legislative agendas.

For The University of Texas System

- Encourage the enactment of legislation authorizing The University of Texas System to create a new university with campuses spanning the Rio Grande Valley that includes The University of Texas at Brownsville, The University of Texas - Pan American, and a future medical school
- The proposed South Texas Plan would not affect current legislative funding or requests for additional funding of the other University of Texas System institutions
- This action supports increased Higher Education in South Texas investments that include The University of Texas at San Antonio's Tier-One academic research goals.

Dear Governor Perry,

On behalf of the United States Hispanic Chamber of Commerce (USHCC), the country's largest Hispanic business organization, I am writing to urge your strong support of the proposed creation of a new university in south Texas, combining the existing University of Texas - Brownsville and the University of Texas-Pan American campuses, along with the medical school authorized by the legislature in 2009. The USHCC, which represents over 200 local chambers of commerce and the interests of over 3 million Hispanic owned businesses that contribute in excess of $465 billion to the American economy each year, enthusiastically supports this proposal.

As you know, the Rio Grande Valley population continues to grow, and the need for better access to educational resources has never been greater. Combining the Brownsville and Edinburg campuses into one new university would leverage the strengths of both, eliminate unnecessary duplications, and better meet the needs of the region. The new university has the potential to become a major research institution and a driver of economic development and innovation in south Texas.

Moreover, beginning operations of the south Texas medical school is imperative. The health care needs of this region are dramatically underserved, with only 124 doctors for every 100,000 residents, far behind the state average of 165 doctors and little more than half the national average of 240 doctors per 100,000 residents. The existing UTHSC-San Antonio's Regional Academic Health Center already provides a solid foundation for the beginnings of the new medical school. The new school would have access to additional medical residency slots with partnering local hospitals throughout the region. This will help to ensure more doctors remain in the area after they've completed their medical education and help eliminate the shortage of doctors in South Texas.

Under the visionary leadership of Chancellor Francisco Cigarroa, a friend of the USHCC and strong ally of the Hispanic business community, the proposal offered by the University of Texas System to the legislature amply documents the educational and economic benefits the new institution would provide to the region and to the State – home to a large portion of Hispanic entrepreneurs, the fastest growing segment of American enterprise.

Additionally, the severe disparities facing the Hispanic populations in the Rio Grande Valley have been of national concern for many years. With the creation of this new university and medical school, you have the ability to address workforce readiness issues that have faced the region for generations. At the USHCC, we have seen what kind of success can be created when Hispanic entrepreneurs are given the ability to meet their potential through the benefits of education, and we are confident this new institution will substantially alter the trajectory of the region by harnessing the energies and talents of a population eager to contribute to the community in meaningful ways.

Your strong support for this proposal is critical to meeting the 21st century educational, medical and economic challenges of this region and of the State of Texas. As the demography of Texas becomes increasingly Hispanic, addressing the educational needs of Hispanic students and the educational and healthcare needs of the Rio Grande Valley is vital to assuring a prosperous Texas economy.

Finally, I want to thank you for your ongoing efforts to support the Hispanic business community throughout Texas. Both our current Chairman, Marc Rodriguez, and our Chairman Emeritus, Nina Vaca, often speak about your ongoing work to make Texas the country's most business friendly state. The astonishing rate of business growth in the state proves the efficacy of your efforts. I also want to thank you again for joining the USHCC at some of our recent events, and I hope you know you are always welcome to join us for any of our engagements.

Respectfully Submitted,

Javier Palomarez
