(2) a defendant's reliance on a court decision that has been vacated, reversed, or overruled on appeal or by a subsequent court, even if the court decision had not been vacated, reversed, or overruled when the cause of action accrued;

(3) a defendant's reliance on a state or federal court decision that is not binding on the court in which the action has been brought;

(4) a defendant's reliance on a federal statute, agency rule or action, or treaty that has been repealed, superseded, or declared invalid or unconstitutional, even if the federal statute, agency rule or action, or treaty had not been repealed, superseded, or declared invalid or unconstitutional when the cause of action accrued;

(5) the laws of another state or jurisdiction, including an abortion shield law, unless the Texas Constitution or federal law compels the court to enforce that law;

(6) non-mutual issue preclusion or non-mutual claim preclusion;

(7) sovereign immunity, governmental immunity, or official immunity, except that sovereign immunity, governmental immunity, or official immunity is not waived for:

(A) a hospital owned and operated by the state that facilitates or makes available abortion-inducing drugs solely for purposes described in section 171A.002(b);

(B) a political subdivision, including a hospital district, that facilitates or makes available abortion-inducing drugs solely for purposes described in section 171A.002(b); or

(C) a physician or other health care professional employed by a hospital owned or operated by the state or a political subdivision in this state, including a hospital district, acting within the scope of their employment who prescribes, distributes, administers, or otherwise makes available abortion-inducing drugs solely for purposes described in section 171A.002(b); or

(8) a claim that the enforcement of this chapter or the imposition of civil liability against the defendant will violate the constitutional or federally protected rights of third parties, except as provided by Section 171A.201.

Sec. 171A.153. STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS. Notwithstanding any other law, a person may bring an action under Section 171A.151 not later than the sixth anniversary of the date the cause of action accrues.

Sec. 171A.154. REMEDIES. (a) Notwithstanding any other law and except as provided by Subsection (b), if a qui tam relator prevails in an action brought under Section 171A.151, the court shall award to the relator:

(1) injunctive relief sufficient to prevent the defendant from violating Section 171A.051;

(2) statutory damages in an amount of not less than $100,000 for each violation of Section 171A.051; and

(3) costs and reasonable attorney's fees.

(b) A court may not award relief under Subsection (a)(2) or (3) in response to a violation of Section 171A.051 if the defendant demonstrates that a court previously ordered the defendant to pay damages under Subsection (a)(2) in another action for that particular violation, and that court order has not been vacated, reversed, or overturned.

(c) Notwithstanding any other law, a court may not award costs or attorney's fees under the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure or any other rule adopted by the supreme court under Section 22.004, Government Code, to a defendant against whom an action is brought under Section 171A.151. This section does not preclude an award of sanctions under Chapter 10, Civil Practice and Remedies Code, nor does it preclude a court from sanctioning a litigant or attorney for frivolous, malicious, or bad-faith conduct.
